

ENGLAND AND AMERICA IN 1813.

The following is from the London Times of March 13th, 1813:

"The public will learn with sentiments which we shall not presume to anticipate, that a third British Frigate has struck to an American. This is an occurrence that calls for serious reflection—this together with the fact stated in our paper of yesterday that Lloyd's list contains notices of upwards of five hundred British vessels captured in seven months by the Americans. Five hundred merchantmen and three frigates. (Aye, and three sloops of war.)

"Can these statements be true; and can the English people bear them unmoved? Any one who predicted such a result of an American war this time last year, would have been treated as a madman or a traitor. He would have been told, if his opponents had condescended to argue with him, that long ere seven months had elapsed the American flag would be swept from the seas, the contemptible navy of the United States annihilated, and their maritime arsenals rendered a heap of ruins.

"Yet down to this minute not a single American Frigate has struck her flag—They insult us, and laugh at our want of enterprise and vigor. They leave their ports when they please, and return to them when it suits their convenience; they traverse the Atlantic, they beset the West India Islands, they advance to the very chope of the channel, they parade along the coasts of South America—nothing chases, nothing intercepts, nothing engages them, but to yield them triumph."

The Retreat of the Rebels Through Kansas.

The retreat of the rebel army is marked not only by robbery and desolation of the wildest kind, but the rebels were not content with that. Six miles north of the Trading Post they murdered Samuel A. Long, aged fifty-six years; he was previously robbed of his money. Three miles north of the Trading Post, John Williams, a preacher, aged sixty years, was indecently mutilated, and then hung. Five miles north of the Post, Richard B. Vernon was murdered; and in the vicinity of the Post, John Miller, aged sixty-five years, was killed. Many other citizens, all unarmed, as these were, were shot at. Such is the character of the villains who claim that they should be treated as prisoners of war. For every citizen of Kansas killed by these marauding traitors, five of the rebel prisoners now in our hands here should be hung.

Along the line of retreat of the rebel army, every house within reach of the main body of flankers, was robbed of everything it contained. All kinds of clothing was taken; even the flannel was in some instances taken from infants. Every morsel of food, cooked and uncooked, was consumed, destroyed or taken along; and all the stock that can be led or driven, was taken; in fact everything valuable and not valuable was taken; so that those men and families whose hard fate it was to be in the way, are left stripped of every comfort and necessary of life. The people who, a week ago, had plenty of everything, are now sufferers, and have a claim upon the charity of other portions of the State.—Mound City Sentinel.

(Signed) D. W. SCOTT, Capt. & Dist. Q. M., District of Upper Arkansas, OFFICE DIST. Q. M., DIST. UPPER ARKANSAS, FORT RILEY, KANSAS, NOV. 7, 1864.

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF KANSAS, Fort Leavenworth, September 30th, 1864.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 51.

I, LAUDRELL.—It is represented that at various posts and elsewhere persons receive quarters to the exclusion of officers and soldiers, and daily rations, under the pretext of being on laundress duty, whereas they have in fact been for months and sometimes for years doing no such duty. Four laundresses are allowed to a company for duty. To be entitled to anything they must be "present with the company," or only "temporarily" absent. Sixty days absence cannot be regarded as temporary, and women absent for this or a longer period cannot be considered as laundresses of a company. Such persons not being in the service in any sense, cannot be allowed either quarters or rations, and the proper officers will see that error or fraud is not tolerated by illegal indulgences of this kind, which are evidently on the increase.

II. INDIAN TRAFFIC.—The military power is constantly invoked to regulate trade in the Indian Country, and while that territory belonged to this Department some effort was made with indifferent success to prevent fraud and larceny.

But in too many instances the Commanding General had reason to believe that the power was obtained to aid one class of speculators against another, and the effect was only to substitute rogues and demoralize troops. Indians have a right to trade, however incompetent and liable to fraud they may be; and it is within the Indian country where transgression and proof are nearest that any proper success can be expected in regulating this traffic.

The Department of the Interior and Civil authorities are the proper special custodians of Indian affairs. The Commanding General has fully advised Headquarters; and Col. Corwin, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, is the proper man to supervise these matters, as the representative of the Interior Department of Government. His Headquarters are at Leavenworth. He is earnestly endeavoring to regulate trade on the Indian border, and Military commanders will give him such aid as he may desire, consistent with our legitimate duties as soldiers. But great care will also be taken that no false use of military power be made, to aid pretending patriots to cheat and defraud either Indians or white men; and all transgressions of officers or soldiers connected with the Indian trade will receive prompt and severe punishment.

III. Captain Edwin J. MEEKER, Signal Officer, U. S. A., having reported to these Headquarters in obedience to orders from the War Department, is announced as Chief Signal Officer Department of Kansas.

By Command of Major General CURTIS, C. S. CHARLOT, Asst'g Adj't Gen.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 2.

HEADQUARTERS 15th REG'T K. S. M., Camp Detzler, Ft. Riley Reserve, Oct. 26, 64. I, The officer and men of this Regiment are hereby granted leave of absence from camp from 10 o'clock this A. M. until ordered to return by the commandants of their respective companies.

III. The Colonel Commanding takes this occasion to thank the officers and men of his Regiment for the alacrity with which they rallied to the call of the State, the unanimity and good nature with which they have endured marching, drilling and camp life, and the prompt and cheerful obedience which they have yielded to all orders. These are the highest evidences which men can give of their loyalty and patriotism, except that which may be given upon the field of battle, and are strong assurance that the men of the 15th Regiment will prove themselves brave and reliable soldiers in the hour of trial.

IV. The Colonel Commanding, whilst he trusts that the men of his command may not again be called upon to meet an enemy in the field, enjoins upon all that they keep their arms in order, and their business and household affairs so arranged as to be ready for duty on the shortest notice. These are times of warfare and of peril, and the State of Kansas must rely upon her brave and true men to defend her soil and uphold her honor.

By order of Col. JNO. T. PRICE, R. McBRATNEY, Acting Adjutant.

By the way: Is there not some McCallanite so hardy as to attempt to answer this question: If the soldiers are mainly on your side (as you say) why has no single Legislature of your party ever passed an act enabling them to vote? It surely is not that party's custom to
